

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a form of Malay or Indonesian, covering the entire page. The text is repeated across the page, suggesting it is a template or a decorative border. The script is elegant and flowing, with some variations in ink color, possibly due to the use of different nibs or the age of the document.

